CHAIRPERSON'S REPORT

This has been a year of great upheaval and uncertainty for community legal centres, and the community services sector generally, particularly specialist services for women experiencing domestic and family violence. Our core funding has been limited to a 12 month contract with the expectation we will face significant cuts the year after next. Funding for our Indigenous women's legal program was removed altogether. However we were successful in a tender for Indigenous Advancement Strategy funds so we have managed to keep it going.

Throughout this time we have continued to advocate, to educate and to campaign for law reform.

There is no better example of the benefit of this approach and the need to properly resource it than the Royal Commission into Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Assault and its hearings about the Bethcar Children's Home.

We represent thirteen women who were children in state care, placed in the Bethcar home, in the 1980s. They were physically and sexually abused.

These clients have complex needs, and developing and maintaining relationships of trust is a crucial aspect of enabling their access to justice. They would not have had this access through any other source.

The evidence before the Royal Commission revealed how deliberate and litigious the state's approach was to impecunious, traumatised clients, and to Women's Legal Services as their representatives.

As an outcome of the Royal Commission the NSW Department of Community Services has undertaken not to dispute out of time applications for child sexual abuse. This is a significant recognition of the fact that many child victims may take years to become ready to speak about the abuse they suffered.

This is an example of how one case can drive a change to the procedures of the government, and can prevent future wrongs, for the whole community. This Annual Report gives an overview of these and other achievements of WLS NSW.

My thanks to the Board; Anna Hartree, Anusha Duray, Belinda Louis, Louise Goodchild, Lizzie Simpson, Lynda Maitland, Sheridan Emerson and Emma Palmer.

On behalf of the Board, I would like to acknowledge the members of the Aboriginal Women's Consultation Network: Elsie Gordon, Anusha Duray, Christine Robinson, Tina West and Vicki Dennison. Thanks to the contribution of these wonderful women we can improve the cultural appropriateness of our services for women and children across NSW.

There are also many pro bono solicitors and barristers who provide great assistance to our staff and clients. Thank you all for your support.

To all those who have contributed to the work of Women's Legal Services NSW, the Board extends its gratitude. To the Board and Staff I thank you for your dedication and your tireless efforts to better the lives of women.

WLS NSW FOUNDATION ACTIVITIES AND EVENTS REPORT 2014/15

Now in its third year, the WLS NSW Foundation has continued to raise its profile successfully into 2015, with an increasing network of people and organisations who support it. Key achievements for the Foundation in the last financial year include:

Sponsorship

The Foundation has now secured an on-going commitment from Gilbert and Tobin Lawyers to host three events per year at their offices. This significantly reduces the costs of bringing together its supporters and members for events.

A relationship has also been formed with the Colins Biggers and Paisley law firm who made a financial contribution to the Bright Sparks Appeal in July 2015. Both firms are acknowledged on the website.

Foundation Events

The past financial year has seen three Foundation events take place.

Newsletters

The e-newsletter is sent throughout the year to the entire mailing list. This includes information on current news, event activity and other social content. In the past year the number of subscribers to the newsletter mailing list has increased from 303 contacts to a current total of 437 contacts.

A sign up subscription link has been created and added to the website and to the coordinators email signature.

Website Update

Improvements were made to the Foundation presence on the WLS NSW website. The Foundation home page content was streamlined and links created to subscribe to the newsletter mailing list and to the Give Now donations site. Subsidiary pages were also created for a newsletter archive and past events information. Each event now sits on its own page which is also linked to the 'News' listings.

STRATEGIC PLAN 2013/14-2015/16

Vision

Access to justice and a just legal system for women in NSW as all women are entitled to a society that respects their human rights.

Purpose

- Women's Legal Services NSW works from a feminist perspective to promote access to justice for women in NSW. We seek to promote women's human rights, redress inequalities experienced by women and to foster legal and social change through strategic legal services, community development, community legal education and law and policy reform work. We prioritise women who are disadvantaged by their cultural, social and economic circumstances.
- We focus on areas of law that most directly have a gendered impact on women. This includes domestic violence, sexual assault, family law and discrimination.

Five Priority Areas

The five priority areas of service delivery for Women's Legal Services NSW are:

Policy and Law Reform

Influence reform of policy, legislation and legal processes that affect the rights and limit the lives of women particularly those most disadvantaged in their access to justice.

Community Legal Education and Community Development

Promote women's understanding of the legal system, their rights and avenues for the resolution of their legal problems. Undertake community development initiatives to achieve this purpose, particularly for those women most disadvantaged in their access to justice. Develop the capacity of service providers working with women to assist their clients with legal problems appropriately.

Improving the Lives of Individual Women

Targeted and effective legal services that best meet the unmet needs of the most disadvantaged women in NSW. Strategic casework selected within our capacity that promotes women's human rights and supports assistance for those women at greatest disadvantage.

Enhance access to justice for and self-determination by Indigenous women

Provide a specialised and culturally appropriate Indigenous Women's Legal Program with respect for Indigenous decision-making and a commitment to supporting community strengthening.

Infrastructure Sustainability and Organisational Support

Maintain the efficiency and effectiveness of Women's Legal Services NSW infrastructure to sustain and support the service delivery priority areas.

WE PROVIDED LEGAL ADVICE AND REPRESENTATION

WLS NSW provided legal advice and representation to women most disadvantaged in our community.

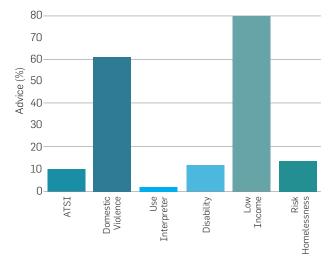

We provided:

- 675 information and referral services.
- 1,768 legal advices to women during the year either by phone or face-to-face at 12 outreach advice clinic locations, women's prisons and Local Courts in Western Sydney.
- We finalised 424 cases.

The ways our clients contacted us for advice

The majority of our clients were on low income and dealing with domestic violence

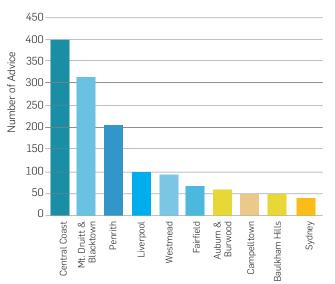

ADVO duty work

We attended local courts in western Sydney to represent women in Apprehended Domestic Violence Order (ADVO) matters and provide associated advice. A solicitor regularly attended Mt Druitt, Penrith and Bankstown Local Courts.

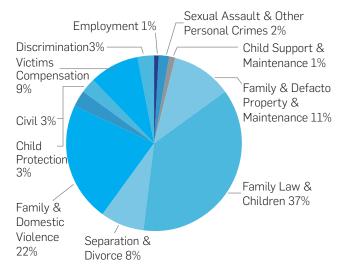

State-wide telephone advice services

We provided state-wide telephone advice services for general legal advice, domestic violence legal advice, and advice for Aboriginal women through our designated Indigenous Women's Legal Contact Line.

Top 10 geographic areas for advice

Advices by area of law

Outreach advice clinics in western Sydney

We provided face-to-face legal advice through four outreach advice clinics in Women's Health Centres in western Sydney at Liverpool, Fairfield, Penrith and Blacktown. Our Indigenous Women's Legal Program provided outreach advice services at Marrin Weejali at Blackett and Koolyangarra at Cranebrook.

Legal Assistance at Family Relationship Centres

We provided advice clinics and lawyer assisted family dispute resolution in family law matters through Blacktown and Penrith FRCs.

Examples of our casework:

LEAP for Women

We continued our work in the metropolitan women's prisons through the LEAP for Women (Legal Education and Advice in Prison) project. This collaborative initiative with Wirringa Baiya Aboriginal Women's Legal Centre and Hawkesbury Nepean Community Legal Centre is now in its seventh year and has identified high level legal needs of women in prison. We do not receive funding to provide this service and it remains a high priority need in terms of access to justice. During the year our advice clinics in prison were referred all pregnant women, so that they can get advice early about keeping in touch with their children and other related legal issues.

NCAT tenancy case

We had a successful outcome before the NSW Civil and Administrative Tribunal (NCAT) testing what constitutes special circumstances under s102 Residential

Tenancy Act – an application to end a co-tenancy on the basis of special circumstances. For our client this was successfully argued to be her history of domestic violence.

Care and protection

We acted for a young mother in a Dispute Resolution Conference at the Children's Court after the father of her children filed a Section 90 application seeking restoration of the children to him. While our client did not oppose the application, she did want to ensure that the Court provided for the children to spend unsupervised time with her in any orders it ultimately made. We successfully negotiated an outcome which reflected our client's wishes.

ADVO and cognitive impairment

Mary * first came to us on a duty list day at a local court in Western Sydney where she was the defendant to an ADVO taken out by the police for the protection of her male carer / partner. Mary had an acquired brain injury and did not remember the incident which lead to the ADVO against her. We made a number of attempts to have the application withdrawn by police on the basis that she could not understand the conditions nor recall the incident. We also made an unsuccessful application to the Court to revoke the AVO relying on the case of Farthing v Phipps [2010] NSWDC 317 where the Court found that it would be fundamentally unfair to impose an order against a defendant, when the order may be breached because the defendant does not understand its terms and is therefore exposed to criminal charges or a term of imprisonment. Our subpoena to Police produced records showing our client had an AVO for her protection against the carer only 2 years earlier and he was convicted of an assault charge arising out of that incident. Ultimately on the day of the hearing, but not until an expert report had been obtained, and further representations made to Police to withdraw against Mary, Police withdrew the application on the basis that the person in need of protection did not have fears.

Family law and Aboriginal kinship

The Mother suffers from chronic mental health problems and was not seeking to be considered as a primary carer but instead supported the Aunt and Great Grandmother who sought shared care and parental responsibility. We argued that while the Aunt was not a biological mother of the children, she was a kin mother, and in Aboriginal communities kin mothers should be treated in a similar light to biological mothers.

During the course of the case, the Federal Circuit Court made orders that a Family Report was inadmissible on the basis that it failed to adequately address relevant Indigenous and/ or cultural issues. The case was ultimately transferred to the Family Court.

This case was significant because it focused on section 61F of the Family Law Act which provides that when considering parental responsibility for Aboriginal children the Courts must consider the kinship obligations and child rearing practices of the specific Aboriginal community where the children are from i.e. that an Aunt who is a kin mother can be considered as a Mother in the context of parental responsibility. This argument was ultimately accepted and the Father and Aunt (or kin mother) share parental responsibility and care for the three children and the Mother spends unsupervised time.

Sexual harassment in the workplace

Susi * had been sexually harassed at work by her manager and a colleague and rang our Working Women's Legal Service line for advice. The harassment included touching of her breasts, dragging her by her hair to the bathroom and detaining her in the bathrooms and comments of a sexual nature about her clothing, appearance and sex life. We represented Susi at a conciliation where the case settled.

Linking our advice and casework to systemic work – outcomes for the broader community

A crucial part of the work we do as a community legal centre is to identify areas of law or legal process that are unfair, or systemic failures that impact on our clients. Our casework informs our law reform and community legal education work – either directly or indirectly [See also separate Law Reform and Policy section].

Victims Support standard of proof

We successfully argued in an NCAT appeal in a victims support claim that Victims Services had erroneously applied the higher civil standard of proof as outlined in Briginshaw v Briginshaw (1938) 60 CLR 33 to our client's claims. The decision of NCAT confirmed that the appropriate standard of proof in Victims Support claims is the ordinary civil standard: on the balance of probabilities.

Royal Commission into Institutional Response to child sexual abuse – Case Study 19 Bethcar children's home

From about 2008 we represented 13 Aboriginal women who experienced sexual abuse while in care at the Bethcar Children's Home in Brewarrina as children. We acted for the women in civil proceedings against the State of NSW. The case ran for over 5 years and settled in late 2013, with our clients receiving compensation and an apology. The civil litigation case was then the subject of a public hearing by the Royal Commission in October and November 2014. The Royal Commission heard evidence for more than two weeks from some of our clients, our Principal Solicitor as well as lawyers for the NSW government and the head of the Department of Family and Community Services.

Media mentions:

"Bethcar Children's Home: Resident broke own arm to escape sexual abuse, royal commission told."

NSW 'no model' for abuse cases

"Earlier on Thursday Janet Loughman, principal solicitor for the Women's Legal Service who represented 13 of the Bethcar plaintiffs, said the state approach to the civil litigation launched in 2008 was to "avoid liability at all costs, no matter how egregious the matters raised".

She also said that at times it appeared "they were trying to wear the plaintiffs down or make it so difficult that we would give up".

At the end of his cross-examination of Ms Loughman, Paul Menzies QC for the State of NSW announced the government would introduce more flexibility in its model litigant responsibilities and on limitation periods."

PM ABC News, 23 October 2014

"Fondling breasts of girl, 14, 'not sexual'." SBS News, 24 October 2014

"Crown tells abuse victims sorry." SBS News, 30 October 2014 The Royal Commission shone a light on the enormous barriers to bringing this kind of litigation and the heavy – and often unnecessary – emotional burden the courageous Aboriginal women endured.

During the course of the hearing, the NSW Government announced some changes to the way it will deal with matters of child sexual abuse in the future in response to the Royal Commission. These changes include:

- generally no longer raising time limits as a defence in such proceedings,
- recognising the trauma experienced by victims of child sexual abuse, and
- seeking to finalise the matter as quickly as possible.

The barristers who acted for the Crown were closely scrutinised by the Royal Commission for their approach to the case and the lawyers for the State as well as the Crown Solicitors Office and the Department of Family and Community Services were called to account for whether they had acted in accordance with the Model Litigant Rules which operate to guide the State in litigation.

The Secretary of the Department of Family and Community Services gave a more heartfelt apology to our clients, both for their experience of abuse in care, and for the way the Department responded to their compensation claims.

Thank you to Maria Gerace of counsel who represented the WLSNSW Principal Solicitor at the Royal Commission hearing; and to John Catsnos and Helen Wall of counsel who had represented our clients through the protracted District Court proceedings that became the focus of case study 19.

The Royal Commission published its report on redress and civil litigation during the year, drawing in part of the submission made by WLS NSW and the evidence given in Case Study 19 – Bethcar children's home.

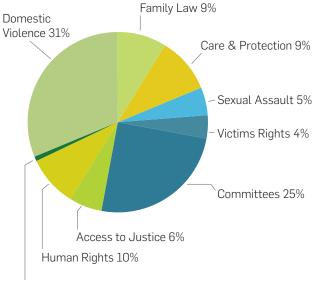

The Royal Commission will publish its report of Case Study 19 in 2015/16.

WE ADVOCATED FOR CHANGES TO LAW AND LEGAL PROCESSES

We maintained a strong commitment to our objective of engaging in policy and law reform, with 246 projects completed over the year. Our policy and law reform activities focus on the justice needs of women, and aspects of the law and the legal structures that affect women's lives.

Where reports were published following inquiries, we were quoted or cited on at least 67 occasions. Over 50 of our recommendations were adopted in reports.

Some highlights of our advocacy work

Removal of limitation periods in child sexual abuse matters

We made a comprehensive submission in response to the NSW Government's Discussion Paper: Limitation periods in civil claims for child sexual abuse. This Discussion Paper was released following the Bethcar case study at the Royal Commission into institutional responses to child sexual abuse and the release of the NSW Government Guiding Principles for government agencies responding to civil claims for child sexual abuse. [See section in Advice and Case Work on Case Study 19: the Bethcar children's home].

In the submission we recommended the removal of a limitation period in claims for child sexual abuse, the physical abuse of a child and psychological abuse where it is related to child sexual abuse or physical abuse of a child. We further recommended the removal of a limitation period in all matters involving claims of sexual assault and in domestic violence matters.

We also recommended the removal of a limitation period in claims for child sexual abuse in response to the Royal Commission Issues Paper about Redress and Civil Litigation.

The Royal Commission released its Redress and Civil Litigation Report which recommends 'state and territory governments introduce legislation to remove any limitation period that applies to a claim for damages brought by a person where that claim is founded on the personal injury of the person resulting from sexual abuse of the person in an institutional context when the person is or was a child'.

Law Reform and Policy Co-ordinator Liz Snell with colleagues from Redfern Legal Centre and NACLC after giving evidence at the Senate inquiry into domestic violence in Australia

Serious Invasions of Privacy in the Digital Era

We made a submission in response to the Australian Law Reform Commission (ALRC) Serious Invasions of Privacy in the Digital Era Issues Paper in November 2013 in which we highlighted the issue of technologyfacilitated violence against women.

In response to our submission, we were invited to meet with Commissioner McDonald and staff from the ALRC to elaborate on our concerns. We made a further submission in May 2014. The ALRC released its final report in September 2014.

We are quoted and/or cited on 30 occasions and five of our recommendations are adopted in the ALRC's final report, including:

- extend the limitation period to up to six years from when the invasion occurred in exceptional circumstances;
- consideration should be given to extending the time limit if the invasion took place before the plaintiff was 18 years old;
- interlocutory/injunctive relief to restrain a threatened invasion of privacy;
- court may make deliver up, destruction or removal orders; and
- surveillance legislation should be technically neutral

Since then, we have participated on a privacy panel discussion at the Australian Communications Consumer Action Network National Conference to highlight the issue of technology-facilitated violence against women; and began work on the Recharge project (see community legal education section).

Monitoring impact of changes to NSW victims compensation scheme

In May 2013 the NSW Government abolished the NSW victims compensation scheme and replaced it with victims support. In response to this WLS NSW drafted an urgent appeal to the United Nations Special Rapporteur on Violence against Women and Girls on behalf of Community Legal Centres NSW. The letter, endorsed by more than 30 organisations, expressed concern about the disproportionate impact the changes would have on victims/survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault. In particular, some victims eligible for up to $50,000 under the old scheme may be eligible for only $1,500 under the new scheme.

We were also greatly concerned that the changes applied retrospectively. This happened even though the government's own review of the old scheme made a clear statement acknowledging that it would be 'unfair to change these goal posts midway.'

In June 2015 the Australian Government's response to our complaint was published in the United Nations Communications Reports of Special Procedures. The statistics confirmed what we feared.

The Australian Government's response states that 3,362 domestic violence victims applied for counselling in 2013-14 but that only 91 applied for financial assistance for economic loss, 310 received an award for immediate needs and 360 received recognition payments. Similarly, 1,732 sexual assault victims applied for counselling but only 44 applied for financial assistance for economic loss, 51 received an award for immediate needs and 187 received recognition payments. This means in 2013-14 only 11% of victims/survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault who sought counselling applied for recognition payments, just under 3% applied for financial assistance for economic loss, and only 3% of sexual assault victims/survivors and 9% of domestic violence victims/survivors received an award for immediate needs payments.

Good governance includes transparency and accountability. It is important that more comprehensive data about the Victims Rights and Support Act be published annually.

WLS NSW, along with other CLCs, continues to advocate for improvements to the current Victims Support Scheme, including better recognition of domestic violence and evidentiary requirements that take into account the many barriers for victims/ survivors of domestic violence and sexual assault in reporting to police or a government agency and that reports to non-government organisations should be accepted.

Capacity Building

We built the capacity of others to engage in law reform and policy activities by:

GP Toolkit on domestic violence

'When she talks to you about the violence – a toolkit for GPs in NSW' was launched by the Australian Medical Association (NSW) (the AMA).

We worked collaboratively with the AMA, as well as Family Planning NSW, Sexual Assault Services and Area Health Services on promotion and distribution of this resource, together with the provision of workshops for health professionals. The AMA produced a video about the GP Toolkit with WLS and Family Planning NSW. It can be found at https://vimeo.com/105645549

With our permission, the Federal AMA produced a national version of our GP Toolkit, which was adapted and added to for national purposes and launched by Dr Brian Owler on 31 May 2015. 'AMA Supporting Patients Experiencing Family Violence – a Resource for Medical Practitioners' can be found at https://ama. com.au/article/ama-family-violence-resource

We granted permission to Family Planning NSW to create their own version of the GP Toolkit for their website and were invited to speak at a number of their health conferences and nurses training about responding to domestic violence and sexual assault.

We also granted permission to services in Victoria, Western Australia, Northern Territory, Tasmania and the Australian Capital Territory to adapt the GP Toolkit to cover the law in their respective jurisdictions. Victorian and Western Australian resources were published towards the end of 2014 and our GP Toolkit was used to train GPs in the Northern Territory via a webinar about domestic violence.

Thank you to the Law and Justice Foundation of NSW for its grant supporting the GP Toolkit publication.

Women and Family Law

We updated four chapters of the Law Handbook published by Thomson Reuters on family law, domestic violence, sexual assault and Aboriginal women and the law.

The Lawyers Practice Manual

We updated two chapters of the Lawyers Practice Manual published by Thomson Reuters on sexual assault and victims support.

Ask LOIS

Ask LOIS (Legal Online Information Service) is our online community legal education portal at www. asklois.org.au for community workers assisting women experiencing or escaping violence.

We completed our Ask LOIS Armidale project. Using Armidale as a test region, the project further developed the Ask LOIS website to make it more responsive to the needs of community workers in regional and remote areas.

We partnered with North and North West Community Legal Service, Armidale and District Women's Centre, Armidale Family Support and Centacare New England North West to steer the project.

The project was nominated for a 2014 Justice Award.

Whilst our funding from Attorney General's Department's NBN Regional Legal Assistance Program has now ceased, we plan to integrate Ask LOIS into our core CLE practice due to the project's overall success.

Ask LOIS has been overwhelmingly effective for training community workers, up-skilling our own staff, assisting in collaborative partnerships with other organisations and in facilitating more efficient triaging and warm referrals for our clients.

Ask LOIS also contains an extensive resource library that is responsive to workers needs. For example, this year there was a spike in member requests for information on technology-facilitated stalking and abuse. As a result, a number of online resources such as technology-safety planning sheets and legal guides were developed for the website.

Webinars:

Ask LOIS broadcasts live fortnightly training webinars. Each webinar is accompanied by a summary factsheet. Webinars are also recorded and made available on www.asklois.org.au for Ask LOIS members to view at a later date. Webinar topics are directed by member feedback or are responsive to law reform changes and current trends.

We would like to thank the following organisations for their contributions as Ask LOIS webinar guest presenters:

- Witness Assistance Service NSW, Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions
- Elder Abuse Helpline and Resource Unit
- The Salvation Army Forced Marriage Project
- Intellectual Disability Rights Service
- Staying Home Leaving Violence
- Legal Aid NSW
- Financial Rights Legal Centre.

Quick statistics on Ask LOIS:

- Reached 1,530 Ask LOIS members, a 34% increase of 389 members over the past 12 months
- Delivered 23 live webinars on unique topics
- To more than 1,052 live webinar participants
- Archived webinars were downloaded and replayed 699 times
- Provided 173 legal advices or information services to community workers through Ask LOIS
- Ask LOIS summary factsheets were downloaded 3,723 times.

Recharge: Empowering women to end digital abuse.

We were funded under the ACCAN Grants Scheme to partner with Domestic Violence Resource Centre Victoria (hosting the Recharge project website), and WESNET (providing webinars on technology safety for women on the issue of technology-facilitated stalking and abuse) to undertake the Recharge project.

The project is compiling resources so that victims experiencing technology facilitated abuse will be able to check for and update privacy settings, remove hidden software, and take advantage of legal resources. Legal and other support workers will also have access to current legal materials for all states of Australia so that they can better assist victims of this abuse. Material created in this project will be on the SmartSafe website http://www.smartsafe.org.au

Rhymes with Silence Theatre Project

In July 2014, we became involved as consultants and partners in a theatre project about 'mothers and the impact of domestic violence'.

The project called for submissions of original scripts for short plays about domestic violence. The producers received about 30 scripts and chose 13 plays, which were performed in Sydney during May 2015.

The theatre event had a vision to raise awareness about domestic violence.

Vee Malnar, one of the instigators of the project said

"As a playwright I wanted to put domestic violence on a stage, where people can watch and respond to the different stories, the characters, the issues, and perhaps open their minds to considering many other factors, or at least just talk about it more."

We collaborated on the project at several stages and our role included:

- Providing legal advice for writers and others involved in the project
- Reviewing scripts for 'legal accuracy'

- Providing legal information and referrals for audience members by hosting a stall at each performance staffed by a WLS solicitor
- Participating in a panel discussion about domestic violence following a performance

Other partners included Domestic Violence NSW. Australian of the Year and family violence advocate Rosie Batty spoke at a performance and appeared in a promotional video.

The theatre production was sold out and well received, as indicated by media reviews and audience feedback obtained through a survey.

Natalie Neumann, CLE Co-ordinator, at the Law Society of NSW Young Lawyers' Careers Fair 2 September 2014.

INDIGENOUS WOMEN'S LEGAL PROGRAM

Introduction

The Indigenous Women's Legal Program is no longer funded through the Community Legal Services Program. We were successful in our tender for funding through the Indigenous Advancement Strategy, which has provided funding for 12 months for four Indigenous staff. These positions enable us to also continue the family law and care services which were previously funded through the Attorney-General's Department and the Department of Families, Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs.

Indigenous women were reached through the Indigenous Women's Legal Advice Line, and the many workshops, forums and community legal education events we attended or delivered. We also provided casework and representation.

The Aboriginal Women's Consultation Network provided guidance to the Indigenous Women's Legal Program and met four times throughout the year.

The Indigenous Women's Legal Program team built networks and relationships with a variety of service providers, enabling our clients to have greater access to specialised services within their own communities.

Kids in Culture - Strong. Proud. Resilient

On August 4, we held a stall at the inaugural National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Children's Day event held in Redfern Park. This year's theme was Kids in Culture – Strong. Proud. Resilient. There were performances from the local children from pre-school though to high school with special guest speakers from the La Perouse Youth Haven, Dharawal Language Program and South Eastern Sydney and Illawarra Area Health Service to showcase the great things they are doing to ensure that the Koori Kids from the La Perouse community grow up to be "strong, proud and resilient".

International Women's Day

We joined the women of Brewarrina to celebrate International Women's Day. Over 100 women and men attended the celebrations at the Brewarrina Aboriginal Integrated Child and Family Centre. WLSNSW sponsored the award, 'Young Woman of the Year. The recipient of this award was Rikkia Nicholls, who was acknowledged for being always willing to do anything for you, a quiet achiever and a reliable asset for the Brewarrina Community.

Rural Trips

30 September–1 October, Taree:

We met with the Social Emotional & Wellbeing (SEWB) worker at Biripi Aboriginal Medical Service (AMS) to scope how IWLP and WLS can support and service the Aboriginal women and services in Taree. Domestic violence specialist worker positions in the area were vacant, although the rates of domestic violence in the mid north coast, particularly Taree, are high. We have kept in contact with the SEWB worker to offer support and a referral point for her clients and to also have conversations about how we can work together presently and in the future.

26–27 March – Brewarrina:

We held an outreach clinic at the Integrated Aboriginal Child and Family Centre, assisting in matters such as voting fines, victims' support and family law. We also sponsored the Young Woman of the Year at the Inaugural Brewarrina International Women's Day event.

22–23 May – Dubbo:

We met with a number of services providers in Dubbo such as the Dubbo Aboriginal Community Justice Group, Women's Domestic Court Advocacy Service and Staying Home Leaving Violence.

Outreach legal advice services

Winnima Wirawi – Aboriginal Family Law Project

The Winnama Wirawi outreaches at Marrin Weejali (Blackett) and Koolyangarra (Cranebrook) have been well attended with both new and ongoing clients.

Family Referral Services (FRS)

We provide outreach on request to clients at the Mt Druitt Family Referral Service. We advise these clients in relation to obtaining Family Law Court Orders, obtaining Apprehended Domestic Violence Orders, removal of children by FaCS and assist with warm referrals for other legal services, for example, Aboriginal Legal Service in criminal charge matters.

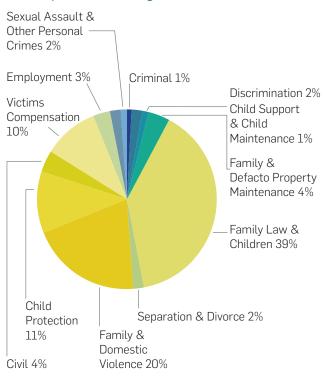

Macarthur Gateway Resource Service

We have a new outreach location in Campbelltown in partnership with Macarthur Gateway Resource Services, an Aboriginal women's support service in South Western Sydney. This service uses a cultural capacity building approach that builds cultural knowledge, connection, practices and skills by providing cultural training, information and support to SHS's within the South Western District. The service has strong connections with the Tharawal Land Council and Tharawal Medical Services.

We are currently working on expanding the outreaches to include other disadvantaged communities in western and south western Sydney.

The types of matters we have assisted these clients with include assisting a mother who's children had been withheld from her contrary to Family Court orders, advice about breaches of AVOs, police complaints, advice on section 90 applications in care and protection matters and advice and assistance to mothers wanting to obtain Family Court Consent Orders, assistance for grandmothers obtaining access to her grandchildren, Telecommunications Ombudsman complaints and Housing transfers.

Advice provided to indigenous clients

Examples of our casework

Getting the kids back: Charmaine* lives in regional NSW and has children who have been in out-of-home-care since 2008. The children were removed by Family and Community Services because Charmaine was using drugs and in a domestic violent relationship. Charmaine left the relationship soon after the children were removed and has been clean since 2009. Charmaine is in a new and healthy relationship and is raising her two year-old son. FaCS have no concerns about his safety.

Three separate Non Government Organisations have case management responsibilities for the day-to-day care of Charmaine's children who have lived in multiple homes in the regional area. Charmaine completed every parenting course she can find and is linked in with a large number of support services. Despite how much Charmaine has turned her life around, up until now she has only spent bi-monthly supervised time with her children and is not provided with any information about the children's day to day lives.

We advocated with each of the NGOs and FaCS to increase the time that Charmaine spends with her children. Following numerous, letters and face-toface meetings, Family and Community Services have promised to make a section 90 Application to the Children's Court seeking restoration of Charmaine's children. We will continue to support and represent Charmaine in these proceedings.

* Not her real name

Grandmother case: Lenore* is a 55-year-old Aboriginal woman with five children and nine grand children.

Lenore's youngest son Franklin has two daughters to his ex wife Tracey. Tracey is not Aboriginal. Franklin and Tracey separated in 2012 and Franklin and Lenore continued enjoying regular time with the children until 2013 when Franklin was arrested in relation to child sexual abuse charges. Franklin was convicted and sentenced to 10 years in prison.

When Franklin was arrested Tracey applied to the Federal Circuit Court for orders for sole parental responsibility and that the children have no contact with their Father.

We represented Lenore in filing an Application to be joined to the Mother's proceedings seeking orders that the children have monthly contact with her as their paternal grandmother. Lenore was very concerned about the girls not having any contact with their Aboriginal family members, community and culture.

Lenore now sees the girls once a month at the park with Tracey present. Lenore is using these meetings to teach the girls about their Aboriginal culture and it allows them to engage with their Aboriginal family and community (as Lenore often brings other family members along).

* Not their real names

Sexually transmitted debt case: Mary* was in a long relationship with Kevin. They have two children. Kevin drank heavily throughout the relationship and was violent towards Mary in front of the children. During the relationship, Mary and Kevin accrued $100,000.00 worth of debts in credit cards and personal loans. Kevin used the credit card to gamble and pay for alcohol. He also shopped a lot online and would pay using the credit card. Kevin told Mary she had to put all of the loans in her name because he had a bad credit rating and doesn't have a high taxable income.

Mary and Kevin separated in 2014. Mary now has $100,000 worth of debt in her name and Kevin is debt free. Mary applied for Legal Aid for parenting and property matters but was refused on the basis of her income. Mary received advice from a financial counsellor that the only thing she can do is declare bankruptcy.

We represented Mary in the Federal Circuit Court proceedings seeking Orders that part of the debt is transferred into Kevin's name and that the children live with Mary and spend weekend time with Kevin (provided he promises not to drink when the children are in his care).

Law Reform

Bethcar and the Royal Commission into the Institutional Responses to Child Sexual Abuse

We represented 13 Aboriginal women who had been sexually abused while in the care of the state of NSW at Bethcar Children's Home. The civil litigation in the District Court of NSW eventually settled after six years of difficult litigation. Our clients took their experience to the Royal Commission, with our support.

This included some intensive liaising between our clients and Royal Commission staff. We travelled to Dubbo, Bourke and Brewarrina in September with the Royal Commission staff, introducing the Bethcar women to them and supporting our clients through the consultation process.

The Indigenous Engagement Officer for the Royal Commission invited Shannon Williams to become a member of the Royal Commission's NSW Aboriginal Reference Group.

We attended the two weeks of hearings, supporting both our WLS staff as well our clients through this process. Due to the courage of our clients and the dedication of the whole WLSNSW, our clients have been compensated and oppressive practices in FACS, the Crown Solicitor's office and the legal profession have been exposed and will be reformed.

Importantly the Government of NSW has committed to discontinue the use of statutory limitation periods to shield itself from responsibility for victims of child sexual abuse.

NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS FOR THE YEAR ENDED 30 JUNE 2015

NOTE 1: STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The financial report is for Women's Legal Resources Limited as an individual not-for-profit Company, incorporated and domiciled in Australia. Women's Legal Resources Limited is a company limited by guarantee.

Basis of Preparation

The financial report is a general purpose financial report that has been prepared in accordance with Australian Accounting Standards adopted by the Australian Accounting Standards Board (AASB) and the Australian Charities and Not-for-profit Commission Act 2012. The financial report has been prepared on a historical cost basis, modified, where applicable by the measurement at fair value of selected non-current assets, financial assets and financial liabilities.

The Company has elected to adopt the Australian Accounting Standards – Reduced Disclosure Requirements (established by AASB 1053 – Application of Tiers of Australian Accounting Standards and AASB 2010-2 – Amendments to Australian Accounting Standards arising from Reduced Disclosure Requirements). As a not-for-profit entity, the Company is eligible to apply the Tier 2 reporting requirements that are provided in these standards. The Company made a decision to provide disclosures in addition to the minimum requirements for the benefit of its users.

The financial statements for the year ended 30 June 2015 were approved and authorised for issue by the Board of Directors on 28 September 2015.

Significant Accounting Policies

The significant accounting policies that have been used in the preparation of these financial statements are summarised below.

The financial statements have been prepared using the measurement bases specified by Australian Accounting Standards for each type of asset, liability, income and expense. The measurement bases are more fully described in the accounting policies below.

(a) Statement of Financial Position

The statement of financial position of Women's Legal Resources Limited incorporates the assets and liabilities of the Women's Legal Resources Centre, Indigenous Women's Legal Program, Outreach Program, and Domestic Violence Legal Service.

(b) Income Tax

No income tax is payable by the Company for the financial year and subsequent years due to the ATO endorsement as an income tax exempt charity. The Company has income tax exempt status under subsection 50-145 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

(c) Property, Plant and Equipment

Recognition and measurement

Each class of property, plant and equipment is carried at cost or fair value as indicated, less, where applicable, accumulated depreciation and impairment losses.

Cost includes expenditure that is directly attributable to the acquisition of the asset. Purchased software that is integral to the functionality of the related equipment is capitalised as part of that equipment.

ABN 88 002 387 699

Properties are measured on the cost basis and there was no revaluation of land and buildings during the year.

Plant and equipment are measured on the cost basis less depreciation and impairment losses.

The carrying amount of plant and equipment is reviewed annually by Directors to ensure it is not in excess of the recoverable amount from these assets. The recoverable amount is assessed on the basis of the expected net cash flows that will be received from the assets employment and subsequent disposal. The expected net cash flows have been discounted to their present values in determining recoverable amounts.

Plant and equipment that have been contributed at no cost or for nominal cost are valued and recognised at the fair value of the asset at the date it is acquired.

Gains and losses on disposals of property, plant and equipment are determined by comparing the proceeds from disposal with the carrying amount of property, plant and equipment. These gains or losses are included in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income. When revalued assets are sold, amounts included in the revaluation reserve relating to that asset are transferred to retained earnings.

Subsequent costs

The cost of replacing part of an item of property, plant and equipment is recognised in the carrying amount of the item if it is probable that the future economic benefits embodied within the part will flow to the Company and its cost can be measured reliably. The carrying amount of the replaced part is derecognised. The costs of the day-to-day servicing of property, plant and equipment are recognised in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income as incurred.

Depreciation

Depreciation is recognised in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income on a straightline basis over the estimated useful lives of each part of an item of property, plant and equipment. Leasehold improvements are depreciated over the shorter of either the unexpired period of the lease or the estimated useful lives of the improvements. Land is not depreciated.

The depreciation rates used for each class of depreciable assets are:

Class of Fixed Asset	Depreciation Rate
Land and buildings	-%
Plant and equipment	10-25%

Depreciation methods, useful lives and residual values are reviewed at each reporting date.

ABN 88 002 387 699

NOTE 1: STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

(d) Financial Instruments

Recognition, initial measurement and derecognition

Financial assets and financial liabilities are recognised when the company becomes a party to the contractual provisions of the financial instrument, and are measured initially at fair value adjusted by transactions costs, except for those carried at fair value through profit or loss, which are initially measured at fair value. Subsequent measurement of financial assets and financial liabilities are described below.

Financial assets are derecognised when the contractual rights to the cash flows from the financial asset expire, or when the financial asset and all substantial risks and rewards are transferred. A financial liability is derecognised when it is extinguished, discharged, cancelled or expires.

Classification and subsequent measurement of financial assets

For the purpose of subsequent measurement, financial assets other than those designated and effective as hedging instruments are classified into the following categories upon initial recognition:

- · loans and receivables
- · financial assets at Fair Value Through Profit Or Loss ('FVTPL')
- · Held-To-Maturity ('HTM') investments
- · Available-For-Sale ('AFS') financial assets

The category determines subsequent measurement and whether any resulting income and expense is recognised in profit or loss or in other comprehensive income.

All financial assets except for those at FVTPL are subject to review for impairment at least at each reporting date to identify whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset or a company of financial assets is impaired. Different criteria to determine impairment are applied for each category of financial assets, which are described below.

All income and expenses relating to financial assets that are recognised in profit or loss are presented within finance costs or finance income, except for impairment of trade receivables which is presented within other expenses.

Loans and receivables

Loans and receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments that are not quoted in an active market. After initial recognition, these are measured at amortised cost using the effective interest method, less provision for impairment. Discounting is omitted where the effect of discounting is immaterial. The Company's trade and most other receivables fall into this category of financial instruments.

Individually significant receivables are considered for impairment when they are past due or when other objective evidence is received that a specific counterparty will default. Receivables that are not considered to be individually impaired are reviewed for impairment in groups, which are determined by reference to the industry and region of a counterparty and other shared credit risk characteristics. The impairment loss estimate is then based on recent historical counterparty default rates for each identified group.

Financial assets at FVTPL

Financial assets at FVTPL include financial assets that are either classified as held for trading or that meet certain conditions and are designated at FVTPL upon initial recognition.

Assets in this category are measured at fair value with gains or losses recognised in profit or loss. The fair values of financial assets in this category are determined by reference to active market transactions or using a valuation technique where no active market exists.

HTM investments are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturity other than loans and receivables. Investments are classified as HTM if the company has the intention and ability to hold them until maturity. The company currently holds long term deposits designated into this category.

HTM investments are measured subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest method. If there is objective evidence that the investment is impaired, determined by reference to external credit ratings, the financial asset is measured at the present value of estimated future cash flows. Any changes to the carrying amount of the investment, including impairment losses, are recognised in profit or loss.

AFS financial assets

AFS financial assets are non-derivative financial assets that are either designated to this category or do not qualify for inclusion in any of the other categories of financial assets. The company does not hold AFS financial assets.

All AFS financial assets are measured at fair value. Gains and losses are recognised in other comprehensive income and reported within the AFS reserve within equity, except for impairment losses and foreign exchange differences on monetary assets, which are recognised in profit or loss. When the asset is disposed of or is determined to be impaired the cumulative gain or loss recognised in other comprehensive income is reclassified from the equity reserve to profit or loss and presented as a reclassification adjustment within other comprehensive income. Interest calculated using the effective interest method and dividends are recognised in profit or loss within 'revenue'.

Reversals of impairment losses for AFS debt securities are recognised in profit or loss if the reversal can be objectively related to an event occurring after the impairment loss was recognised. For AFS equity investments impairment reversals are not recognised in profit loss and any subsequent increase in fair value is recognised in other comprehensive income.

Classification and subsequent measurement of financial liabilities The company's financial liabilities include borrowings and trade and other payable.

Financial liabilities are measured subsequently at amortised cost using the effective interest method, except for financial liabilities held for trading or designated at FVTPL, that are carried subsequently at fair value with gains or losses recognised in profit or loss.

All interest-related charges and, if applicable, changes in an instrument's fair value that are reported in profit or loss are included within finance costs or finance income.

(e) Impairment of Assets

At each reporting period, the Company reviews the carrying values of its tangible and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have been impaired. If such an indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset, being the higher of the asset's fair value less costs to sell and value in use, is compared to the asset's carrying value. Any excess of the asset's carrying value over its recoverable amount is expensed to the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income.

Where the future economic benefits of the asset are not primarily dependent upon the asset's ability to generate net cash inflows and when the Company would, if deprived of the asset, replace its remaining future economic benefits, value in use is determined as the depreciated replacement cost of an asset.

Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an assets class, the Company estimates the recoverable amount of the cash-generating unit to which the class of assets belong.

Where an impairment loss on a revalued asset is identified, this is debited against the revaluation reserve in respect of the same class of asset to the extent that the impairment loss does not exceed the amount in the revaluation reserve for that same class of asset.

(f) Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents comprise cash on hand and demand deposits, together with other short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and which are subject to insignificant risk of changes in value.

(g) Employee Benefits

Short-term employee benefits

Short-term employee benefits are benefits, other than termination benefits, that are expected to be settled wholly within twelve (12) months after the end of the period in which the employees render the related service. Examples of such benefits include wages and salaries, non-monetary benefits and accumulating sick leave. Short-term employee benefits are measured at the undiscounted amounts expected to be paid when the liabilities are settled.

Other long-term employee benefits

The company's liabilities for annual leave and long service leave are included in other long term benefits as they are not expected to be settled wholly within twelve (12) months after the end of the period in which the employees render the related service. They are measured at the present value of the expected future payments to be made to employees. The expected future payments incorporate anticipated future wage and salary levels, experience of employee departures and periods of service, and are discounted at rates determined by reference to market yields at the end of the reporting period on government bonds that have maturity dates that approximate the timing of the estimated future cash outflows. Any re-measurements arising from experience adjustments and changes in assumptions are recognised in profit or loss in the periods in which the changes occur.

The company presents employee benefit obligations as current liabilities in the statement of financial position if the company does not have an unconditional right to defer settlement for at least twelve (12) months after the reporting period, irrespective of when the actual settlement is expected to take place.

Post-employment benefits plans

The company provides post-employment benefits through defined contribution plans.

Defined contribution plans

The company pays fixed contributions into independent entities in relation to several plans for individual employees. The company has no legal or constructive obligations to pay contributions in addition to its fixed contributions, which are recognised as an expense in the period that relevant employee services are received.

(h) Revenue

Grant revenue is recognised in the statement of profit or loss and other comprehensive income when the Company obtains control of the grant. When there are conditions attached to grant revenue relating to the use of those grants for specific purposes it is recognised in the statement of financial position as a liability until such conditions are met or services provided.

Revenue from the rendering of a service is recognised upon the delivery of the service to the clients.

Interest revenue is recognised on a proportional basis taking into account the floating interest rate applicable to the financial assets.

All revenue is stated net of the amount of goods and services tax (GST).

(i) Deferred Income

The liability for deferred income is the unutilised amounts of grants received on the condition that specified services are delivered or conditions are fulfilled. The services are usually provided or the conditions usually fulfilled within twelve (12) months of receipt of the grant. Where the amount received is in respect of services to be provided over a period that exceeds twelve (12) months after the reporting date or the conditions will only be satisfied more than twelve (12) months after the reporting date, the liability is discounted and presented as non-current.

(j) Good and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Taxation Office (ATO). In these circumstances the GST is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of an item of expense. Receivables and payables in the statement of financial position are shown inclusive of GST. The net amount of GST recoverable from or payable to, the ATO is included as a current asset or liability in the statement of financial position.

Cash flows are presented in the statement of cash flows on a gross basis, except for the GST component of investing and financing activities, which are disclosed as operating cash flows.

(k) Critical Accounting Estimates and Judgments

The Directors evaluate estimates and judgments incorporated into the financial report based on historical knowledge and best available current information. Estimates assume a reasonable expectation of future events and are based on current trends and economic data, obtained both externally and within the Company. It has not been necessary for the Directors to make any key estimates or judgements in the report.

(l) Economic Dependence

Women's Legal Resources Limited is dependent on Legal Aid NSW for the majority of its revenue used to operate the business. At the date of this report the Board of Directors has no reason to believe the Legal Aid NSW will not continue to support Women's Legal Resources Limited.

NOTE 1: STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES (Continued)

(m)New Standards and Interpretations Not Yet Adopted

A number of new standards, amendments to standards and interpretations are effective for annual reporting periods beginning after 1 January 2014. Those which may be relevant to the Company are set out below.

AASB 2013-9 Amendments to AASB 136 arising from Reduced Disclosure Requirements AASB 2013-6 makes amendments to AASB 136 Impairment of Assets to establish reduced disclosure requirements for entities preparing general purpose financial statements under Australian Accounting Standards – Reduced Disclosure Requirements arising from AASB 2013-3 Amendments to AASB 136 – Recoverable Amount Disclosures for Non-Financial Assets. AASB 2013-3 made narrow scope amendments to AASB 136, addressing disclosure of information about the recoverable amount of impaired assets if that amount is based on fair value less costs of disposal.

AASB 2013-6 became applicable to annual reporting periods beginning on or after 1 January 2014.

The adoption of these amendments has not had a material impact on the Company.
